Special skills class helps students

by Jean Wright

A specialized course offered at Eastern gives students a chance to brush up on their reading skills, study habits and vocabulary.

General Studies 1000, which does not count as credit toward graduation, teaches students to organize their study time through better scheduling, increased reading speed and improved comprehension.

Director Carol Helwig said the course is not a remedial reading program, but a service to help students improve their present skills.

The course, which is part of the Academic Support and Retention committee, operates out of the reading center. Eighteen students are currently enrolled.

While the reading center personnel already meet with non-enrolled students who are having difficulties, they prefer not to because learning reading skills is "a long term process," Helwig said. "We can, however, advise a student on their reading skills, or how to attack a textbook they're having difficulty with."

Helwig noted that not all reading difficulties stem from a reading problem. "Sometimes, a student's reading problem stems from not having background knowledge for that course," she said. "They may not be studying in the proper location or they may be concentrating on other problems. Also, freshmen may have a difficulty adjusting to the newness of the university."

However, not all students enrolled in the course are freshmen. Junior Shawn Williams took the course to learn to organize his study time. "I re-evaluated how I spent my time, and I was surprised at how little I was studying. I only studied when the urge struck me."

Williams said he did not think he had a reading problem, but a discipline problem. "I didn't know what to expect when I took the class, but this class really disciplined me. The amount of work you put into it is what you get out of it."

While Williams heard about the course through the academic assistance center, freshman Karen Goodwin enrolled after she read about the course in Eastern's course catalog.

Retention

A closer look

Goodwin said she looked beyond the fact that the course did not offer credit hours. "I knew that this course would help me out in all of my classes," she explained.

She added that, although she enrolled to improve her reading skills and her vocabulary, she has found that the course has fringe benefits.

"This course has helped me to pick out the important points in a lecture, whereas before I was copying down everything the instructor said verbatim."

Helwig said the center may eventually operate on a walk-in basis.

"It has been suggested to make the reading center more flexible, where a student could just walk in," Helwig said, adding, "but it's just in the talking stage."

Helwig said such a change could help students get quick, short-term help with their reading skills.

"If a student fails a mid-term exam and the instructor says, 'You need help with your reading skills,' they can't send the student to the reading center until next semester, so the motivation is gone."

Although there is only one section of the course this semester, there were three sections with 85 students last semester.

Helwig said students' lack of motivation is responsible for the decrease in enrollment this semester. "You constantly have to remind students of the retention services available to them."

Rives to ask firm to direct asbestos plan

by Amy Zurawski

A recommendation to hire an environmental consulting firm to conduct a campus-wide asbestos survey at Eastern will be presented Thursday to the Board of Governors.

Eastern President Stanley Rives will recommend that Carnow, Conibear and Associates, Ltd., Chicago, complete the survey at a cost "not to exceed" $38,930, according to Rives' report to the board.

According to the report, the survey will determine whether asbestos is present in building materials, assess the possible hazards, recommend action and provide cost estimates for any action which needs to be taken.

The survey, which will be paid for by appropriated funds, is being conducted because of the concern about potential health hazards because of the presence of asbestos in three campus buildings, the report said.

Rives could not be reached for comment Monday.

An initial survey, taken about nine months ago at Eastern by Apple Contractors, Taylorville, revealed .3 of a 5.0 micrometer of an asbestos fiber per cubic centimeter of air in the Union's Grand Ballroom, .1 in the Physical Plant and .01 in the Life Science Building. The proposed survey would yield a more comprehensive assessment of the problem.

Rives' report stated that two other firms, whose names are not available, also submitted proposals to conduct the survey.

One firm's proposal proposed a total cost exceeding $100,000 and the other indicated that it would not be able to complete the work before fall.

University Relations Director Daniel Thornburgh, a President's Council member, said the President's Council did approve the president's report to the BOG, including the recommendation of Carnow, Conibear and Associates Ltd. to complete the survey.

Thornburgh speculated that the recommendation will be approved by the BOG, but added that the final decision is made by the Board.

In the past, he added, the BOG "usually" approves the items contained in the president's report.

Assistant Planning Director Barbara Platt confirmed that the BOG will vote on the recommendation at Thursday's meeting in Springfield, but declined to comment further.

"We are in a holding pattern until the BOG gets some things taken care of," she said. "After a firm is approved, we will be working furiously."

Physical Plant Director Everett Alms said he has not been notified of any final plans for the survey or when the testing to begin.

Carnow, Conibear and Associates, Ltd., conducted a similar survey at Northeastern Illinois University-Chicago this year, and have been contracted to conduct one at Western Illinois University-Macomb.

Illinoisans dying of heart attacks

WASHINGTON—The new annual report of the Department of Health and Human Services shows Americans are living longer and healthier lives but that heart disease—the nation's leading cause of death—has been killing Illinoisans at rates far higher than those of most other states.

The document said Illinois is one of five states with consistently high death rates for heart diseases for whites and blacks of both sexes.

"I don't have any obvious answer for it," said Dr. Stuart Frank, president of the Illinois chapter of the American Heart Association and chief cardiologist at the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine in Springfield.

The report said variations among states in heart-disease deaths are not fully understood.

Syria moves to cut down fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon—Syria intervened diplomatically Monday to try to help end the Moslem-Christian battling around Lebanon's port of Sidon. At least 40 people have been killed in four days of fighting.

Maj. Gen. Mohammed Kholi, Syria's national security adviser, held five hours of talks with Lebanon's Christian president, Amin Gemayel, and Rashid Karami, the Sunni Moslem prime minister.

"We have discussed the (Sidon) events and ways of facing all eventualities," Karami told reporters. "We as a government are determined to shoulder our responsibility in safeguarding the citizens as well as the nation against any harm."

Asked whether the government would send reinforcement to Sidon's army garrison, he said: "The equipment available is on the way."

Boy forced to have sex with girl

TAYLOR, Mich. (AP)—Three young boys have been accused of forcing an 11-year-old playmate to have sex with a 9-year-old girl, holding the victim down and then leaving her in a field while they ran off for a game of hide and seek.

Two 14-year-olds and a 12-year-old have been charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct for their alleged role in the March 19 attack in this Detroit suburb.

Sgt. Robert Robinson, who heads the Taylor police youth bureau, said the 11-year-old told police he was threatened "with some retribution" unless he had intercourse with the girl in front of a group of neighborhood boys.

A psychiatrist, meanwhile, said that the accomplices may need as much counseling as the girl.

"They're going to have to deal with seeing themselves as capable of something bad," said Peter Ash, director of outpatient child psychiatric services for the University of Michigan Hospitals.

"You're talking about guilt, loss of self esteem, fear of lack of self control."

Ash said it was unusual for young boys to carry out such an attack. However, "In group behavior, sometimes normal rules get suspended," he added. "They tend to define people not in the group as not fully human."

Corporations unite in merger plan

NEW YORK—Hospital Corporation of America and the Illinois-based American Hospital Supply Corporation have unveiled a bold, $6.6 billion merger plan to join the forces of the products and services sides of health care to hold down costs in an increasingly competitive industry.

The deal, which would be the fourth largest corporate merger in U.S. history, is expected to trigger similar combinations in the $400 billion-a-year health-care business, analysts said Monday.

The combination would be the nation's largest health-care company. Hospital Corp. is the largest for-profit hospital chain with about 420 facilities, while American Hospital is the leading supplier of health-care products.

The boards of directors of both companies unanimously approved the stock-swap merger on Saturday, and it was announced Sunday. Shareholders will vote on the proposal in June.

"I think it's a very solid concept," said Larry Feinberg, analyst with the investment firm of Dean Witter Reynolds Inc. "I think they are addressing what needs to be addressed in American health care."

"Basically the health-care system is becoming extremely competitive," he said. "There are problems in both the hospital side and the supply side. There has been a shift in purchasing power away from the providers to the consumers. The winners are going to be the ones who provide the highest quality at the best price."

Japan makes new trade policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Reagan administration said Monday that Japan has made "new commitments on trade issues," but indicated there is still no agreement on efforts to persuade the Japanese to open their markets to U.S. goods.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, angry legislators were preparing legislation that would impose quotas and tariffs on Japanese products coming into the United States if Japan does not lower trade barriers.

President Reagan met at the White House with two envoys he sent to Tokyo over the weekend in a last-ditch attempt to prod Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone and other officials into making trade concessions.

After the meeting with Reagan, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the envoys told the president that "the government of Japan made new commitments on trade issues."

"The president welcomes this development," Speakes said.

An administration official, speaking only on condition that he not be identified, said Gaston Sigur, a National Security Council member specializing on Japanese issues, and Lionel H. Olmer, undersecretary of commerce for international trade, delivered a letter from Reagan to Nakasone on Sunday.

"The special envoys to Prime Minister Nakasone made it plain, as we have in the past, that we do face a definite and strong push from Congress of protectionist sentiment," the official said.

He added that the Japanese were told the president wants to be able to tell Congress "that there is a good-faith effort on the part of the Japanese and that we do have something to show for it."

Koch raps Jackson about housing

New York (AP)—Mayor Edward I. Koch said Monday that the Rev. Jesse Jackson should "administer to his own flock" in Chicago and not lecture New York City on housing the homeless.

Jackson said at a sermon Sunday that New York City was a "slum landlord" that did not do enough to house the homeless, and he urged the congregation to pressure public officials to provide more housing.

Jackson made the remarks at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, where he was the sixth guest speaker in a weekly series of sermons.

Koch said he was "a little incensed" at the remarks, and he viewed it as a political attack by Jackson, a black-Chicago minister who ran for president last year.

"Chicago is probably the most radically divided city in the country," Koch said. "There's no question about that. . . the most, one of the most divided cities in the country, where people don't even talk to one another in public offices."

"We don't have that in the City of New York," Koch said.

The mayor noted that a report last year by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development said that in estimating the number of homeless people, the "most reliable range" was 28,000 to 30,000 homeless for New York City, and 19,400 to 20,300 for Chicago.

Koch said New York was providing 6,200 beds for homeless individuals at 18 municipal shelters at the time the report came out, and Chicago was providing 100 beds.

Voters to elect new mayor, city councilmen

by Jim Allen

Charleston voters Tuesday will decide who is to sit in the mayor's office for the next four years as the municipal election polls collect the ballots from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Vying for the city's top seat are city commissioner Olga Durham and Eastern administrator Murray Choate.

Also to be decided at the polls Tuesday are four city council seats, which pits three incumbents against five challengers.

Residents previously registered to vote in Coles County will be eligible to partake in the non-partisan election.

Under Charleston's mayor-council government, each council member is responsible for administering a particular city service. The four seats currently cover finance, public property, streets and public improvement, and public health and safety.

The three incumbents running are Streets and Public Improvements Commissioner Wayne Lanman, Finance Commissioner John Beusch and Public Property Commissioner John Winnett. The challengers are Richard Corbin, Edwin "Bud" Hildebrand, Leroy Lashbrook, Tom Michael and Bruce Scism.

Meanwhile, the primary mayoral race eliminated both incumbent Clancy Pfeiffer and former Charleston police officer Jack Turner.

The winners of that race garnered narrowly-divided tallies, with Choate edging Durham by only three votes.

Choate is currently Eastern's associate director of admissions and Durham is finishing her term as public health and safety commissioner.

The top issues of the campaigns have included economic development, jobs, and the need for the recently-created city administrator's position.

The polling places are:

State office building 'safe' with fire marshals on site

CHICAGO (AP)—The city said Monday that a new $172 million state office building, which it sought to shut down for alleged fire-code violations, is safe enough to remain open as long as fire marshals remain on the site.

"The building at this point, with fire marshals in there is safe," said Daniel Welter, chief assistant corporation counsel, after a court hearing on the city's suit seeking to shut down the State of Illinois Center.

Welter also said progress is being made in the dispute between the city and state over the 17-story building housing 1,500 state workers. Another court hearing was set for April 10.

Meanwhile, state officials told Cook County Circuit Judge James Murray that the building is safe. Jeffrey Finke, assistant attorney general, said "an enormous amount of work" had been done in recent days to respond to city allegations that the building doesn't meet fire-code standards.

Those comments came three days after the city filed suit, alleging that the center—the costliest building ever financed by Illinois taxpayers—doesn't meet safety codes and should be shut down.

Murray, who on Friday ordered state fire marshals posted at the site, postponed ruling on the suit until next week.

In a document filed Monday with the judge, Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan detailed improvements that had been made, including fire-sprinkler system was in service for all but 0.3 percent of the occupied section of the building and the remainder will be in operation by Friday.

Richard McClure, director of the state Department of Central Management Services, which is responsible for the center's operation, also said closing the building would effectively shut down many areas of state government, including areas of law enforcement, child-abuse protection and other emergency services.

Gary Skoien, director of the state's Capital Development Board, said that in addition to the installation of the fire wall, fire sprinklers and other emergency systems had been checked to make sure they were working properly.

"The issues are not whether the system is bad ... (but) whether its operable," he added.

Local election lets students tout influence

With Tuesday's city general municipal election, students will have the opportunity to have a voice in city government.

One man and one woman, both of whom survived the Feb. 26 primary election, are pitted against each other. Murray Choate, Eastern's associate director of admissions, and Olga Durham, who is completing her second term as public health and safety commissioner, are vying for the mayoral post.

There are also eight contenders for four city council seats. Positions for those seats are finance, public property, streets and public improvements and public health and safety.

Although the student population at Eastern nears 10,000, traditionally student voter turnout has been discouragingly low.

During the last mayoral election, an uncontested race, 33 percent of Charleston's registered voters cast ballots. However, in three predominantly-student precincts only 165—five percent—out of 3,496 registered voters turned out to vote.

Student voter turnout for February's primary election was equally dismal. Figures showed that voter turnout in predominantly student-populated precincts was the lowest of all. In the five student-populated precincts, the unofficial tally was 606 out of a total 2,625 votes cast.

The student vote represents less than one-fourth of the votes cast instead of a close to 50 percent mark which would more adequately reflect the student-resident population.

Most students spend about nine months a year in Charleston and the decisions of elected officials often affect them. We believe it only makes sense that students take part in the election process.

Both Choate and Durham are concerned with arousing more input from the Charleston population, and Eastern students represent about half of that population. They say student input matters.

So Tuesday, it will be up to students to prove that.

Your turn

For day celebrations

Editor:

February was Black History Month. March was Women's History and Awareness Month. What's next, Black Women's History Month? Bolivian Month?

Pretty soon we're going to have so many groups wanting a month of their own that we're going to have to redesign the calendar to accommodate them all.

In anticipation of a future crisis, similar to that of the excess holiday syndrome, I suggest that each group be allotted a day, rather than a month of their own. The Irish have managed with having only one day to celebrate their heritage. Why can't everyone else do the same?

Each group should celebrate their special day with one of their most celebrated personalities. For instance, Coretta Scott King was a fantastic choice for Black History Month. One day for each group should be enough time to give us a sampling of that great "melting pot" that we know as America. This business of dragging it out for a whole month is a bit much.

Also, in the name of equality and in recognition for those people that passed all those laws that made everyone equal, I suggest that we remember that poor neglected segment of our population which is also very much deserving of a day of their own—the white male.

Lake gives room to relaxing thoughts

Large bodies of water mean different things to different people. For some people it means beaches where they can become various skin colors while flaunting their fabulous figures. For others, lakes, oceans and rivers (sometimes even puddles) are frightening creations to be avoided at all costs.

For me, one particular body of water means neither of these. I only show off my body for comedic purposes, and I find water relaxing, not dangerous.

See, I'm from Evanston (a strange little town trapped between Lake Michigan, Chicago and several boring suburbs). Because one side of Evanston is bordered by Lake Michigan, it is easy to spend the greater part of one's life at lakeside.

But as I've said, I'm not what one could call a beach bum. What I am is a rock rodent. I sit on the rocks which were placed along the lake to prevent it from taking over the city. It is here that I have done some of my best thinking.

In fact, it seems that this is the only place I can really think logically. There's something about the sound of the water hitting the rocks and the cries of seagulls that help me put my mind at rest.

And the amazing thing is that no matter how many bathers are sprawled on the nearby beach, when I'm on those rocks I feel totally alone. This is not the same feeling of aloneness which comes from locking oneself away in a bedroom to think. Bedrooms are too cramped to really escape the problem. The lake is big and airy.

Also, there's something about staring out into that endless mass of water that brings everything into perspective. Now, I realize this will probably seem a bit overly-poetic, but bear with me. This is really how I see it.

The water that floats under the rocks is dirty and ugly (Lake Michigan is not known for its fine maintenance). I kind of think of that as the past experience—water under the rocks, as opposed to water under the bridge.

What's the point?

Diane Schneidman

The majority of the rest of the lake looks blue and rather clear. That's the present—a time to be happy and get a clearer perspective.

Then, way out there, as far as the human eye can see, the water takes on a darker shade of blue, but remains clear and is one of the most gorgeous sights in the world. That's the future—a bit darker, but if you really examine it, it's not bad at all. In fact, it looks pretty safe.

Because of this perspective, Lake Michigan has become my personal sanctuary from arguments with my parents and the harsh realities of school. It is my retreat regardless of season.

Most people only flock to the lake in the summer go there spring, summer, fall and winter. Each season has provided a different feel. During the spring the ice begins to melt and the lake comes to life, and so do I. In the summer, the lake is warm and soothing. In the fall and winter, the lake is kind of gray, but it still is willing to have a wretch like me by it and pass the time.

Lake Michigan is kind of a friend to me. Not once all the times has it been too busy to have me air my complaints. It never questions or offers suggestions. It just gives you the air and room to breath and think.

A song by The Who says, "A beach is a place where a man can feel he's the only thing in the world that's real." For me, the rocks along Lake Michigan are the only place in the world where I can be logical.

Reader's advocate listens to queries and complaints

by Lori Davis

A shaky future for newspapers is part of the reason a reader's advocate is important, Sue Ann Wood, a speaker for Journalism Month, said Monday.

Wood, who spoke to over 100 Eastern students, said there is no guarantee for the future of newspapers because they are losing credibility with their readers. She added that the reader's advocate may be part of the answer in solving this problem.

Wood said she sees the role of the reader's advocate as being an "accessible editor." She explained that it is very easy for the editorial staff to dodge the reader, but with a reader's advocate, there is someone there who will answer their calls. Wood estimated that she receives an average of 20 calls and letters a day.

In addition, Wood said the reader's advocate is a "service to the reader, even to the detriment of the newspaper. But Wood added, "I don't see my job as necessarily defending the newspaper."

Wood said that the calls she receives are not always complaints. She said the most frequent calls are concerning the Illinois state lottery numbers.

However, Wood said that readers do call to complain when they do not receive their newspapers. She added that most people "don't know to call circulation" and this is one of the biggest reasons people drop their subscriptions.

Grammatical and spelling errors are another reason readers call in. Newspapers used to hide their corrections, Wood said, but added that it does not hurt the paper's credibility by admitting them.

Wood said readers tend to believe the newspaper is theirs, and are very serious about their calls. The people that call or write in are "serious and not crackpots," she noted.

Wood said she concerns herself with "questions of accuracy, fairness, good taste and sensitivity."

Everything printed in the newspaper should be justifiable by the newspaper staff. Wood added that reporters should try and be sensitive about all issues and should try to "humanize the news."

Wood began her journalism career as a reporter for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat in 1955. She continued as a reporter until 1975, when she became a night city editor.

Wood advanced to the position of Globe-Democrat city editor in 1977 and was assistant managing editor until March 1984.

Journalism Month will continue with Rose Ann Robertson, former editor for The Daily Eastern News, speaking at Eastern on April 25 and 26. Also Robert Kreibel, Lafayette, Ind., Journal and Courier editor, will be at Eastern on April 10.

Senate tables tuition plan

by Jean Wright

A tuition-payment installment plan will be discussed Tuesday by the Faculty Senate and Verna Armstrong, vice president for administration and finance.

Faculty Senate Chairman Ken Sutton said the tuition payment, which is presently paid before school begins, causes a financial burden for students.

Last year's tuition payments, due Aug. 16, were $483 for lower division students, $507 for upper division students and $549 for graduate students.

While Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, has not expressed support of the proposal, said he is in favor of examining the possibility of a tuition payment plan.

However, Williams said the idea would have to be researched to determine what effects it would have because the money received from the tuition payments goes to the state and draws interest.

The university would have to determine how much interest the state would lose by having payments later in the year, Williams said.

Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said the Student Senate worked with the Faculty Senate on the proposal, and the proposal has been approved by the Student Senate.

If approved by Armstrong and the Board of Governors, the proposal would allow students to pay a minimum amount before they start school. Students would then make a commitment to pay remaining fees throughout the year, as housing payments are made.

Sutton said he believes that extending the time allotted for tuition payments will make students less financially burdened, and they will have more time to come up with the money needed.

Sutton added that the school was not substantially benefitting from receiving the money early, as Eastern received little interest because the fees go directly to the state.

Fees for fall session are currently due Aug. 16. Sutton said if the proposal is passed, it probably will not be active by fall.

The senate, which will meet at 2 p.m. in the Union Martinsville room, will also discuss strengthening itself by comparing Eastern's constitution to those of other schools.

Accomplishment.

The city of Charleston was the only local unit of government to reduce property taxes this year. We levy $2 million a year less taxes than Mattoon, and we are presently $1/2 million under budget.

Committee

RHA forms endorsement

by Annette Seymour

The Residence Hall Association has formed an endorsement committee for the April 17 student government election.

The action was taken at the March 21 meeting and members include RHA President Leslie Garrigan, freshman Dale McKinney, National Communications Coordinator Penny Jones, senior Lisa Blackburn, junior Janice Horsman, junior David Ascolani, freshman Lisa Vazzi and sophomore Rick Atkins. Atkins is chairman of the committee.

In other business, Garrigan said RHA will hear nominations for new officers at the April 11 meeting, and copies of sample ballots will be available. The election is slated for April 17.

Eastern's student code was also discussed at the meeting. Randy Johnson, RHA faculty adviser and associate director of housing, said Eastern's student code needs to be updated and noted one or two RHA members, who have not yet been selected, will serve on a student advisory committee.

In addition, the group discussed plans for Little People's Weekend scheduled for April 26-28. The campus-wide theme is "Magic Kingdom at EIU" and each residence hall has a theme adapted to the Disney theme.

Superstar effort expected to net 70 million for African relief fund

NEW YORK (AP)—"We are the World," the song recorded by 45 pop superstars, is sailing to the top of the charts faster than any disc in a decade, the flagship of a charitable fleet that promoters say will send $70 million in relief to the hungry in Africa.

Billboard, the music industry weekly, says in its current edition that the 6-minute, 19-second single jumped to No. 2 in the charts only three weeks after its release.

Billboard talent editor Paul Grein predicted it will hit No. 1 next week, the first single to hit the top in its first month since Elton John's "Island Girl" in 1975.

The single retails for $1.98. Of that, $1.40 goes to the "USA for Africa" non-profit organization, which will use it to buy supplies for relief agencies already in the field.

"USA for Africa is not only a non-profit organization, it is a no-overhead organization," said Ken Kragen, the pop music impresario who is a driving force in the movement.

The foundation has been declared tax exempt by the Internal Revenue Service, he said.

Cancer spokesman warns against clever advertising

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A tobacco industry spokesman has denounced as "Paternalistic" an American Cancer Society official's call for women to avoid "manipulative advertising" to reduce alarming numbers of lung cancer deaths.

Citing the society's projection that lung cancer will surpass breast cancer as the leading cancer killer of women this year, Dr. Robert J. McKenna, the society president, said Sunday that 38,600 women will die of lung cancer in 1985.

Seventy-five percent of those deaths "are self-inflicted because they are directly linked to cigarette smoking," McKenna, a professor of surgery at the University of Southern California, said in a speech prepared for the society's annual science writers' seminar.

"This means that a staggering number of women's deaths predicted for 1985—about 29,000—could have been prevented," he said.

"We urge women to take responsibility for their bodies and their lives as they have in so many other ways," he said.

"Women must refuse to become victims of manipulative advertising and of the physiological and psychological addiction of cigarette smoking."

McKenna's comments drew criticism from Walker Merryman, vice president of the Tobacco Institute in Washington.

"The paternalistic approach embodied in the American Cancer Society's calls to women and feminist groups implies that women unlike men, are unable to make their own decisions about smoking," Merryman said in a telephone interview.

The cancer group "is choosing to ignore the many other influences which may have an impact upon the apparent increase in lung cancer among women," Merryman said.

But McKenna, declaring that the United States "cannot tolerate the dreadful social cost and ultimate financial cost of cigarette marketing success," repeated the call he made in February for a Congressional hearing on tobacco ads aimed at young people and for new federal Trade Commission regulations on such ads.

The FTC should limit cigarette ads to printed messages "without pictures or symbols," ban cigarette promotions aimed at young people and require health warnings in promotions of women's tennis, cultural and fashion events which get "the self-serving sponsorship of cigarette companies," he said.

The government also should stop subsidizing cigarettes sold at military PX's and impose some sort of control on snuff and chewing tobacco use by young people, McKenna said.

Merryman countered that for more than 20 years, "the tobacco industry has sought to avoid aiming their advertising messages at youngsters.

Villanova tips Hoyas by two in NCAA final

LEXINGTON, KY. (AP)—Underdog Villanova, winning 79 percent from the field, denied Patrick Ewing and Georgetown a second straight basketball title Monday night with a 66-64 victory.

Georgetown had won 17 straight games and completed the season with a 35-3 record and 121-23 record during the four-year career of 7-foot Ewing, a four-year All-American. Villanova, 25-10, was beaten twice by the Hoyas during the regular Big East season, 52-50 in overtime and 57-50, and Georgetown entered the game a nine-point favorite.

"No one thought we could do it, but I did," Villanova Coach Rollie Massimino shouted afterward. And the rotound coach and his unranked crew from the Philadelphia suburbs had plenty of heroes to go around.

Dwayne McClain, hitting five of seven field goals, paced Villanova with 17 points and 6-foot-9 Ed Pinckney, who battled Ewing the pivot all night, scored 16.

The Wildcats also hit 22 of 27 free throws and matched the Hoyas on the boards with 17 rebounds. And limited Ewing, the Hoyas' All-American center, to 10 points.

Georgetown was trying to become only the seventh team and the first since UCLA in 1973 to repeat as NCAA champions. They were being rated among the greatest teams of all time, after breezing through the rest of their schedule and looking stronger with each game.

But Villanova, which finished in a third-place tie in the Big East Conference with Syracuse, began a six-game winning streak in the tournament, knocking off other ranked teams such as No. 2 Michigan and No. 1 Memphis State in Saturday's semi-final.

Their upset victory was akin to that of North Carolina State, which won the NCAA title two years ago as an overwhelming underdog. But that N.C. State team finished with one more victory against its losses, and the 16th ranking in the final pre-tournament poll. All Villanova had to show was hope they entered their sixth consecutive NCAA tournament, a competition they never had won.

The Wildcats pulled ahead 29-28 at halftime and after Ewing hit an opening jumper in the second half, they went up 36-30 with Harold Jensen's basket, a three-point play to Pinckney and a jumper by Gary McClain.

McClain's three-point play kept them up 41-36 but Georgetown came back and went ahead on David Wingate's jumper 42-41 with 9:49 remaining.

The lead changed hands five times, the last on a jumper by Pinckney, who was named the tournament Most Valuable Player. McClain hit two free throws to give Villanova a 49-46 lead.

Again the Wildcats went ahead by five on a Pinckney jumper but Georgetown came back with six straight points. Wingate's drive put the Hoyas ahead 53-49.

Pinckney then lost the ball trying to drive against Ewing and the Hoyas went into a spread offense.

Eastern's softball team, 9-3, will host Miami (Fla.) Tuesday at Lantz Field in its 1985 home opener. Panther freshman pitcher Zam Mogill was named the GCAC Player of the Week.

Dunston made great strides in Cubs' training camp—Frey

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Shawon Dunston's modest goal this spring was to make the Chicago Cubs roster—not the starting lineup.

Dunston was named the club's No. 1 shortstop last week by Manager Jim Frey over veteran Larry Bowa.

"I thought I'd make the team and backup Bowa and see what happened," said Dunston.

But Frey could foresee bigger things for the 22-year-old infielder from New York.

"He's still in the developmental stage," said Frey. "He just turned 22. He's played two years of professional baseball. His body and mind are just starting to grow up, I think, in terms of being a professional."

"There's still some growth and maturity to be developed, but he has tremendous potential. And that potential is what we're seeing here. I thought the opportunity had come to see what he can do."

Dunston was the No. 1 pick overall in the June 1982 free-agent draft after graduating from Thomas Jefferson High School in Brooklyn.

He batted .321 at his first stop with the Sarasota Cubs of the Gulf Coast League, and hit .310 with

See related story, page 13

Quad City in the Midwest League the next season.

In 1984, he hit .329 in 73 games with Midland of the Texas League and .233 in 61 games with Iowa of the American Association.

Dunston's play was tentative in the early weeks of spring training.

"You got a case of a young guy who came in here, and read where he was going to get a chance, but probably in his own mind didn't feel it was all that realistic," Frey said. "He knew from being here with Bo (Bowa) and knows all the record of what Bo has been doing for a long time and was maybe unsure of himself. That seemed to be the way he played early on."

But Dunston gradually worked his way into the starting lineup for opening day.

"In the last four games, he just looks like a different player from the guy who arrived in February," Frey said. "He's seemed to have quicker in terms of keeping his body under control and throwing the ball."

Sluggers set to host IUPUI in twin bill

by Ken Dickson

If Tuesday's baseball double-header between Eastern and Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis was to be decided on how much the two teams know about each other, the result would be two 0-0 ties.

"I have know idea what they have," Eastern coach Tom McDevitt said Monday. "I just know we can't take them lightly."

IUPUI is 7-15 after finishing 3-6 on a recent swing through Florida. IUPUI Sports Information Director Robert Lovell said the team's leading hitters are infielder Jeff Siple and outfielder Curt Bressler, but he did not have any statistics.

Eastern, which finished 6-4-1 on its southern trip, is 10-4-1 overall.

McDevitt said junior transfer Bill Jose will start the first game, which begins at 1 p.m. at Monier Field. Junior Jim Wilkins is scheduled to start the second.

Jose, who has relieved in four games this season, is 0-1 with a 10.50 ERA in six innings pitched. But he has one save, seven strikeouts and only three walks.

Wilkins has appeared in two games, including one start, and is 2-0 with a 1.43 ERA. He has four strikeouts and no walks in 6 1/3 innings.

Offensively, the Panthers are batting .328 and have hit 19 home runs in 15 games. First baseman Kendall Snyder is leading the team at .419 to go along with 14 RBI in 15 games.

Centerfielder Monty Aldrich has 13 RBI and a .409 average, while left-fielder Tim Parker has 12 RBI, four home runs and a .375 average.

Designated hitter Bernard Holland is leading the team with RBI at 16, while hitting four home runs and batting .375.

The rest of the lineup should include Tim Torricelli at third, Rick Sterioti at second, Terry McDevitt at short, Kevin Smith in right and Alswinn Kieboom behind the plate.

Eastern also plays a double-header beginning 1 p.m. Wednesday against Indiana University.

Southern trip

Tracksters drop pair on road

by Marc Pacatte

Despite several outstanding showings in individual events, Eastern's men's track team suffered a pair of lopsided losses during spring break.

The first came at the hands of Mississippi State last Friday, where the Panthers racked up 58 points against what assistant coach Tom Akers called a "real strong" 85-point outing by the Bulldogs.

The second, suffered against Louisiana Tech the following Saturday, saw the "vastly improved" Tech team best the Panthers 109-48.

But, despite the scores, Akers said, "We were pretty pleased overall. It would have been nice to have been closer," but several "pleasant surprises" balanced the team showing.

"Our top people are going great guns right now," Akers said, "(But) some of our middle of the road people have got to start coming around if we're going to have a chance at the conference championship."

Some of the pleasant surprises during the southern tour included Claude Magee's two firsts and a second against Mississippi State.

Magee captured top honors in both the long jump—with a jump of 23'2 1/2"—and 100 meter dash—with a 10.3 showing. His second place finish was 21.86 in the 200.

Freshman standout Rod McMullen finished first in the 110-high hurdles at 15.03, junior Larry Priebe won the javelin with a 205'9" toss and sophomore Scott Adamson won the 400-intermediate hurdles with a time of 54.74.

Freshman sensation Jim Maton won the 1500-meter run with a time of 3:57.17.

Akers said Maton had "a real good first meet," placing second in the 800 with a 1:58.4 and running "one of the faster legs" in the mile relay in addition to the first in the 1500.

Also at Mississippi State, junior Jim Lail placed second in the shot and discus. He threw the shot 54'11" and the discus 159' for the finishes.

Akers blamed some of the loss on the fact that the Panthers had traveled for 10 hours the day before the meet, but also conceded that Mississippi

Magee shines in Florida Relays

by Marc Pacatte

GAINESVILLE, Fla.—Track standout Claude Magee defended his title in the 100-meter dash at the Florida Sunkist Relays Saturday with a 10.17 showing.

The senior came within .01 of beating his best time from the end of last season, which assistant coach Tom Akers said is especially pleasing considering it came "this early" in the Panthers' outdoor schedule.

Akers, weighing the outcome of Eastern's spring break trip, said, "We had our best performance down there."

In addition to Magee's stellar finish, Akers pointed out that the weightmen were "outstanding."

Junior Jim Lail threw the discus 169'6" for second place and ended up fifth in the shot put with a 56'9 1/4" toss.

Bob Mazanke, also a junior, captured third in the discus with a 162'8" throw. Junior Larry Thoenissen finished third in the shot with a school record toss of 57'2". He also got fifth

State is a "good team."

"They have one of the fastest 4 x 100" relay teams and also boast a standard 4 x 400, "which means they have a number of good sprinters and a quantity of half milers."

Two other problems included the fact that the meet was supposed to be a triangular, but Arkansas failed to compete, and that the Panthers didn't field entrants in the 400-meter and triple jump.

If the Panthers were looking to avenge the loss with a win against Louisiana Tech, then the 109-48 final, with the Panthers on the short end, must not have been too encouraging.

Akers said the loss "sort of hurt," although Louisiana Tech was "twice as strong as last year."

The Panthers garnered four firsts and several seconds, but "they basically outnumbered us," Akers said. "Their weightmen were excellent, and that's where we're strong, so that took points away from us," he added.

Magee had a first in the long in the hammer with a 167'11" throw and seventh in the discus with a 153' throw.

The Panthers' sprint medley, ranked 17th going into the relays, finished fifth overall. Junior Greg Anderson and Magee, running the two-200 leg, clocked at 21.9 and 20.4 respectively. Sophomore Don Johnson, running the 400-leg, clocked a 48.9, and Jim Maton filled out the relay with a 1:52.4 800-leg.

Akers said Maton, a freshman, had "an excellent spring trip."

Scott Adamson, a junior, finished second in his heat in the 400-meter hurdles with a 53.59, but despite a "fine race" and 10th-place finish, failed to rank.

The Panthers' 4 x 400 relay team finished fifth in its heat with a 3:17.33, but could not advance to the finals.

Akers said considering all the traveling, Eastern's contingent displayed "outstanding efforts" among the more than 1,000 participants.

jump—23'10 1/4"—a first in the 200-meters—.21 flat—and a third in the 400—53.47.

Maton pulled in a second in the 1500 with a run of four minutes flat, and 40 minutes later came back to win the 800 in 1:54.59. Akers said Maton "continues improving and is doing an outstanding job."

Sophomore Tom Getz jumped 6'5" to win the high jump, and four Panthers pulled down seconds at the meet.

Priebe threw the javelin 179'4", Lail threw the discus 171'3" and the shot 56'4 1/2" for the field events seconds, and Adamson ran the 400-hurdles in 53.58 and senior Mitch McClure grabbed 9.50 in the steeplechase for the running events' second place finishes.

McClure "has a long way to go" in the steeplechase, Akers said, adding that he "is capable of a lot faster times."

The Panthers have all of this week to prepare for the SEMotion Relays at Southeast Missouri in Cape Girardeau, Mo. this weekend.

Tigers hope to repeat in AL East flag chase

by the Associated Press

What can the Detroit Tigers do for an encore?

"I said last year our goal was to be better than the year before, and the same is true now," says Sparky Anderson, manager of the world champions.

That will take some doing, especially in baseball's toughest division, even though the Tigers breezed to a wire-to-wire pennant last year. Thanks to a sizzling 35-5 start, they led the American League East by six games at the end of April and won by 15 games over the Toronto Blue Jays.

"I don't think we'll be 35-5 this time around," Anderson concedes. "But with Jack Morris winning 19 games and Dan Petry 18, our guys knew we weren't about to lose too many games in a row."

To help withstand the shoulder miseries of Milt Wilcox, the Tigers acquired Walt Terrell from the New York Mets.

The bullpen "only" consists of MVP-Cy Young winner Willie Hernandez (9-3, 32 saves), Aurelio Lopez (10 wins, 14 saves), Doug Bair and Bill Scherrer.

The Tigers are as strong as any team in baseball up the middle with catcher Lance Parrish, second baseman Lou Whitaker, shortstop Alan Trammell and center fielder Chet Lemon. The first three won Gold Gloves for their defensive prowess last season.

Right fielder Kirk Gibson didn't win a Gold Glove, but he socked 27 home runs and became the first Tiger to hit 20 homers and steal 20 bases in the same season. He also hit .367 with three homers and nine RBI in post-season play.

The Blue Jays acquired Bill Caudill (88 saves in the last three seasons) from Oakland and Gary Lavelle from San Francisco to save games for starting pitchers Dave Stieb, Doyle Alexander, Jim Clancy (disabled list) and Luis Leal.

Caudill cost the Blue Jays shortstop Alfredo Griffin and outfielder Dave Collins; the price for Lavelle was pitcher Jim Gott and two minor-leaguers. Slick-fielding Tony Fernandez inherits Griffin's job and Jesse Barfield becomes an everyday player, joining Lloyd Moseby and George Bell in the outfield.

Other standouts include Willie Upshaw (1B) and Damaso Garcia (2B). Toronto will try to replace designated hitter Cliff Johnson with Willie Aikens and Jeff Burroughs.

The New York Yankees had the best record in baseball (51-29) after the All-Star break.

Softballers ready for Miami home opener

by Dan Verdun

After playing 12 road games Eastern's softball team is more than ready for its 1985 debut at Lantz Field.

The Panthers, 9-3, will host Miami (Ohio) in a non-conference double-header at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Eastern, champions of the St. Louis Invitational played earlier this season, is coming off a 6-3 spring trip to the Southeast.

"I was fairly pleased with the way we played in South Carolina," coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said. "Our pitching has come a long way."

Senior Shelly Eddington and freshman Zam Mogill anchor the Panther mound corps.

"Zam is showing people that she is for real," D'Abbraccio said. "Shelly has provided us with a lot of strong pitching and timely hitting."

Mogill, 4-1, has struck out 30 batters while walking three in 35 innings.

Mogill, who hurled a no-hitter against Francis Marion College over spring break, also leads the team with a miniscule 0.20 ERA.

Eddington, 5-2, displays a 1.08 ERA with 19 strikeouts in 45.2 innings pitched. The Brighton product has, however, experienced control problems walking 22 batters.

Eddington also spearheads the Panther offensive attack. The senior leads

Mogill honored

Eastern pitcher Zam Mogill was named Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference Player of the Week Monday by league officials.

Mogill allowed just one earned run in 28 innings on the Panthers' spring trip while posting a 3-1 record. The lone earned run allowed by Mogill came at the hands of nationally-ranked South Carolina.

Mogill, who also threw a no-hitter against Francis Marion College, has the second best ERA (0.20) in the GCAC.

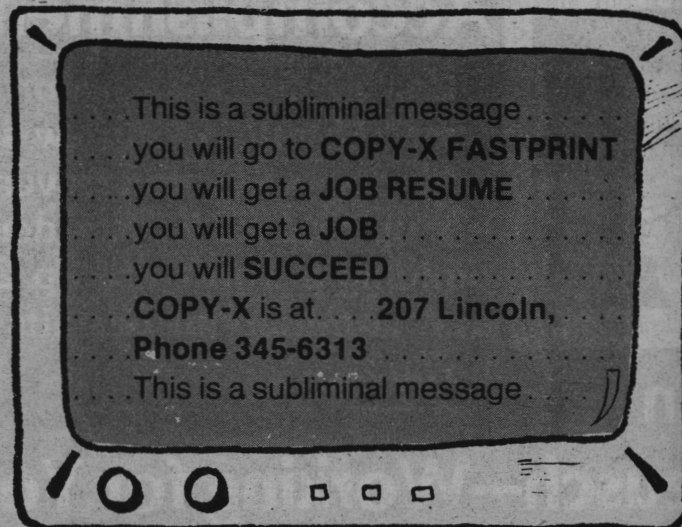

—Dan Verdun

the club with two home runs, six runs scored and eight RBIs.

Freshman Sara Karcher leads the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference in hitting with a .458 batting average. The shortstop batted .550 on the spring trip, including a five-for-five performance in the double-header against Francis Marion.

Freshman outfielder Angel Lendavay's .429 average ranks second in the GCAC. The Mundelein native is second on the team with five RBIs.

"I am very pleased with our hitting," D'Abbraccio said. "We've had a lot of extra-base hits."
